Washington, May 23.—The debate on the Constitutional amendment is progress-ing in the Senate.

In the House, a bill has been proposed to extend the duration of the Freedmen's Bureau three years.

From Havana.

New York, May 23.—Havana correspondence received here says all eyes are turned to the formidable preparations for a revolution, by expected aid from the South American Republics.

The Government monopoly on tobacco in Cuba has been abolished.

Another revolution is progressing in Hayti.

Additional Foreign Intelligence.

Additional Foreign Intelligence.

New York, May 23.—The extracts from the European papers represent war as inevitable. There is no confirmation of the report of a European Congress to be hald, or signs of mediation. Earl Clarendon, in the House of Lords, said that the English Government would not engage in war directly or indirectly. Napoleon, in a speech at Augureau, said, "I detest these treaties of 1815, which it is now sought to make the basis of our foreign policy." The declaration was considered a signal for war, and the Paris Bourse was panic-stricken.

The London Times, commenting on this, 8ays:

says:
"Only Napoleon can prevent war, but unfortunately the arbiter of the Continent speaks only to spread dismay on every exchange, by some doubtful utterance."

An attempt had been made to assassinate Count Bismarck by the son of a Republican refugee, named Carl Blond. The assassin fired five shots, all of which were ineffectual. Bismarck seized the assassin and gave him into custody.

Secretary Seward's Speech.

Secretary Seward's Speech.

New York, May 23.—Secretary Seward made a speech at Auburn, in this State, yesterday evening. Mr. Seward said the solicitude which pervaded the country would perhaps justify him in addressing the people upon political topics, candidly and particically. When good Union men were suspicious of the change in the views of defeated rebels and their support of the President's policy—he, from the first, rejected the idea that change was accomplished for treasonable purposes. Reconstruction is not needed, because the country as constituted long since has not been destroyed. What is needed is reconciliation between the Senators now acting and those who, being loyal, haye been or may be elected hereafter from the Southern States. With few exceptions, the Southern States. With few exceptions, the Southern States. The Southern States have for the last four years been merely disorganized. They are now organized, and nothing is needed but conciliation. The President's plan of reconstruction is that so far and so fast as unrepresented Southern States present themselves in a loyal attitude by representatives unquestionably loyal, they are entitled to representation. This plan is practicable. No plan proposed by Congress so far is immediately practicable. He was aware there was a difference between the President and Congress, but hoped that difference would not cause the Union party to lose its great influence in guiding the country to perfect restoration.

The Health of Jefferson Davis.

Washington, May 23.—In compliance with the President's instructions. Dr. Cooper, Surgeon United States Army, has reported upon the condition of Jefferson Davis. He reports that Mr. Davis is considerably emaciated, the fatty tissues having almost disappeared, leaving his skin shrivelled. His muscles are small, flaceid and very soft, and he has but little muscular strength. He is quite weak and debilitated, consequently his gait is uneven and irregular. His digestive organs at present are in a comparatively good condition, but become quickly deranged under anything but most carefully prepared food. With a diet disagreeing with him, dyspeptic symptoms probably make their appearance, followed by vertigo, severe facial and cranial neuralgia, crysepelatics, inflammation of posterior scalp and right side of nose, which quickly affects the right eye, the only sound one he now has, and extends through the nasal duet into the interior nose. His nervous system is greatly deranged, being much prostrated right eye, the only sound one he now has, and extends through the mass duct into an extend the product of the sensation being as of one flay the one of the sensation being as of one flay ed and having every sentient nerve exposed to the waves of sound. ARREST OF FREEDMEN'S BUREAU Officers.-The Washington Eccaing Star savs:

The statement made in some of the newspapers that the President has ordered the arrest of all officers of the Freedmen's Bureau engaged in cultivating lands in the South, goes a little too far. The President has directed Maj. Gen. Howard to cause the arrest of every officer of the Bureau in North Carolina who is engaged or pecuniarily interested in the cultivation of plantations, and Brig. Gen. W. E. Strong has been despatched to execute the order. Judge Advocate-General Holt has been instructed by

A large and enthusiastic meeting of President Johnson's supporters was held at Westminster, Maryland, on Saturday. Hon. Montgomery Blair, Senator Hendricks and General L. H. Bousseau, of Kentucky, spoke in support of the President's policy.

Politics of the Supreme Court.—
The Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribune pretends to have ascertained that of the Judges of the Supreme Court, Messrs. Chase, Miller, Swayne and Davis agree with Congress, and Messrs. Nelson, Grier, Clifford and Field agree with the President as to the position of the Southern States, and matters connected with reconstruction generally. The correspondent finds in this equal division of opinion the reason why the Senate is reluctant to confirm as Judge Mr. Stansbury, of Ohio, who agrees with the President, and would give him the support of the majority of the Supreme Court.

Sacred to the memory of the late G. B. NUNAMAKER, who died at his residence, in Lexington District, S. C., on the morning of the 8th of March, 1863, in the sixty-fifth year of his age.

Mr. Nunamaker in I long resided in the city of Columbia, being one among the oldest merchants there. His health had been declining many years, yet no murmur escaped his lips; he was always cheerful, seeming to be resigned to the will of God. His only regret was in bidding adien to his family, being greatly attached to them. He was a kind and includent father and a devoted husband.

Yes, he has left us when we want farewell to the kind and affectionate father. He is taken forever from our midst. No more will we hear his loved voice momore will we listen to the celevor his lootsteps.
